MAKING WAVES

17 MINUTES AGO by THE STUDIO

You know what they say: if you can't make it to the ocean, bring the ocean to your hair... (Ok, so maybe you heard it here first BUT they might start saying that pretty soon.)

On our list of ways to make every day feel like a beach day, or at least a seaside jaunt: eat oysters daily, apply bronzer liberally, browse Slim Aarons images constantly, drink rosé... And perfect that beach hair look. So, in pursuit of this, we came across Verb's Sea Spray which is super light and smells amazing. Easy breezy, beach vibes every damn day — even when the most adventurous you've gotten was a bike ride in lieu of your normal subway dash.

As far as the formula goes, Verb have pretty much just bottled the beach. The contents include actual sea salt (plus a nice moisturizing agent to subdue any roughness the salt might cause).

What are your best ways to get that ideal beach look, hair and all? Do you live the beach life even when you're stuck far away from the salty seaside?
